

Cain Contracting, Inc.

A Service Disabled Veteran Corporation

Project: Annapolis Town Center

Location: Annapolis, MD

Project Overview

Cain Contracting was selected by the Whiting-Turner Contracting Company to perform the fast-tracked construction of a 400,000 SF retail and office building as part of the renowned redevelopment of the former Parole Plaza, now known as Annapolis Towne Center. In keeping with the decadence of historic Annapolis architecture, Cain's scope of work included the installation of ornamental moldings, 30-foot Glass Fiber Reinforced Concrete (GFRC) columns, a domed roof, and cupolas. The ten-month scheduled required most of the work to be performed in the harsh winter months, requiring meticulous planning and coordination to ensure that safety and efficiency was maintained through completion.

